My name is Angelique Campbell. I am a mom of 4 kids, a full time blogger and competitive gymnastics coach. I have been featured on TLC's Extreme Couponing, Rachael Ray and Kansas City LIVE. I enjoy speaking and teaching tips on frugal living and couponing whenever I can. I have spoken for several different MOPS mom groups, Women's conferences, church events and even private in home classes.

I started my blog as a local couponing site in 2011, My primary demographic reach ranges nationwide. I have both men and women alike who visit my site daily, however women 21-45 years old consist of my primary reach. Being a wife and mom myself I feel I relate well with my readers. My most recent discovery of product reviewing has become a very intense passion. I love sharing about great products with my friends, family and readers.
